

Iron County Register.

C. D. AKE, : : : : : EDITOR.
VOLUME XV, NUMBER 45.

IRONTON, MO.,
THURSDAY, MAY 25, 1882.

For internal discussion on all subjects, public and private, Dent county takes the cake—judging by the outcrop in her various newspapers.

The Supreme Court Monday declared the Johnson gambling law constitutional, and issued a peremptory writ against Judge Laughlin, requiring him to try the cases under said law.

Judge Laughlin of the St. Louis Criminal Court has got into a tangle with the newspapers. The Evening Chronicle has been especially hard upon him, and the Judge is now howling for blood. Yesterday he sent to Mr. Waterloo, editor of the Chronicle, the following note:

ST. LOUIS CRIMINAL COURT, Hon. Henry D. Laughlin, Judge, ST. LOUIS, May 22, 1882.
—To Stanley Waterloo—Sir: That you may have no cause to plead surprise when next we meet, you are now notified to make such preparation for an emergency as you may deem fit. I shall make it my business to see you soon.

HENRY D. LAUGHLIN.
As the Republican says, "according to Judge Laughlin's decision in the Hatch-Reilly case, Mr. Waterloo would be justified in hunting him with a shotgun, and killing him on sight." The end is not yet.

The signs this year are remarkably good for the Democrats. The tide is setting against the Republican party in dead earnest, and a "change" will be given the people in 1884 which will cause many an office-holding patriot to weep bitter tears. Says the Indianapolis Journal, a St. Louis paper:

"Disguise the fact as we may, but it still remains a fact, that the Germans have abandoned our party in this State and in Ohio almost in a body. How long they will act with the Democrats is another question. If they remain with them, the whole political lines of attack and defense must be rearranged. We must look to the South for help in 1884. If we lose Indiana, we must have Virginia, and if Ohio goes, the Republican party goes also unless we can secure Tennessee, Florida, Alabama and Mississippi. There is no use to rely any longer upon the bloody shirt. The country has entered upon a new era of trade and traffic, and the South buys millions yearly from the North. Our next ticket and our next platform must be solely upon business principles. Another thing, we warn every Republican in this State to beware of the deceiving lie, so oft repeated, that the Democratic party is dead. It is more powerful, formidable and united to-day than at any time since 1861, and if there was a national election this year in either Indiana or Ohio we should shudder at a contemplation of the result."

The Democratic Standard, of Fredericktown—conceived in spite and run to bust the Plainsdealer—is in deep water. Mr. Franklin, the "motive power" of the establishment, retires heaping curses on the head of Josiah M. Anthony, Ed. Anthony, and perhaps one or two other parties. He claims that the establishment is not self-sustaining, that lies innumerable have been told, and solemn promises ruthlessly broken by his "wicked partners." He has been kicked, starved, and variously ill-treated. He kicks back in a manner hurtful to the feelings of those who maltreated him. Mr. Franklin's "summing up" is as follows:

The paper was started as a political organ—a campaign paper—to be run in the interests of Josiah, Ed. Anthony, and others. It was to be made self-sustaining, by fair means or foul; no money was to be put in it; they arguing that after one printer should starve out it would be a very easy matter to hood-wink another and get him in on the same terms No. 1 served, viz.: one-half of the net profits. Too late they see their mistake; their supposed tool has turned the tables on them, and now they want him out of the way, so they can control their organ; for I am told the paper will continue, but Mr. Anthony says he "will not have anything more to do with it." Will he? If not him, who? Josiah Anthony, in whose interest it was first started, for he wants an organ; proof of this lies in the fact that he this week approached the editor of the Plainsdealer, a man whom he has abused for the past five years, and asked the use of the columns of his paper to reply to any attacks that may be made on himself. Doubtless, he entertains great fears in this direction. But, after all, it may be only a ruse.

A Good Bill.

Representative Clardy has introduced into the House a substitute for the famous Bliss bill; and as it has the approval of Secretary Teller and the Commissioner of the Land Office, it will no doubt become a law. The substitute amends Section 1 of the Bliss bill by inserting after the words, "has been paid," "and where subsequent to such entries said lands have been sold to bona-fide purchasers at public or private sale, are hereby legalized and confirmed, whether such entries were made by persons in their names, in assumed names, or in the names of fictitious persons." We have no doubt every Senator and Representative from Missouri will second Mr. Clardy's efforts to get the bill through both houses at an early day. It ought to be done in the interest of their constituents who ask nothing but what is just and fair between themselves, the Government and the world.

Teller vs. Bliss—Sense vs. Nonsense.

The REGISTER has on various occasions called attention to efforts of certain U. S. officials inimical to the best interests of this section of the State. A combined assault was made on the titles to three-fifths of the lands in Southeast Missouri; a bill upsetting the title to every acre of those lands was introduced into both houses of Congress; notices were served on various parties who held these lands, ordering them not to sell or dispose of them; nay, more—county officials were ordered to stop proceedings against such of them as were delinquent for taxes! We cannot conceive of official stupidity going to greater lengths. But, eventually, through the persistent efforts of a few, the attention of Secretary Teller was called to the state of affairs threatening the welfare and peace of Southeast Missouri; a copy of Bliss' restraining order to Ripley county officials was placed before him, and he at once put a quietus on the whole business. We now call attention to that portion of his letter evidently referring to that sweet-scented order:

"I cannot refrain from saying that I think it is a great mistake on the part of the Government to attempt to unsettle titles emanating from itself that have been supposed for many years by the people to have been granted in accordance with law. Certainty of title is an essential to a well-organized and prosperous community, and no greater wrong can be perpetrated on the people than to attack their title by an indiscriminate raid on a class of entries without reference to the facts in each case."

In the order named not a tract was designated, but an "indiscriminate raid" made upon every acre of land entered under the Graduation Act in Ripley and Wayne counties. The REGISTER took up the fight on behalf of our people, showed up its outrageous absurdity and punctured the bill subsequently gotten up to bolster this unheard-of assumption of authority. But one other paper, the Doniphan Prospect, stood up for the rights of our people in this matter, denouncing the attempted raid on their property and homes as it deserved. It is needless to add the REGISTER feels pretty well satisfied with itself.

KANSAS CITY, June 4, 1881.
LEIS CHEMICAL MANUFACTURING CO., LAWRENCE, KAN.: I take pleasure in saying to you that I and many of my friends have used Leis' Dandelion Tonic, and always with good effect. The idea that its sale or use is a violation of the prohibition law of Kansas is exceedingly foolish, as it is in no sense intoxicating, but entirely medicinal.

D. SHELTON, Supt., Bismarck Grove.
A physician was called to the bedside of a young man in Scholastic county, New York, and while he was bending over the bed the unconscious patient suddenly drew up his legs, and placing them against the doctor's stomach, kicked out and sent the doctor flying over chairs and other furniture to the opposite side of the room. The doctor was picked up unconscious, with three ribs broken, and when he recovered consciousness the young man was dead.

Women Never Think.

If the crabbed old bachelor who uttered this sentiment could but witness the intense thought, deep study and thorough investigation of women in determining the best medicines to keep their families well, and would note their sagacity and wisdom in selecting Hop Bitters as the best and demonstrating it by keeping their families in perpetual health, at a mere nominal expense, he would be forced to acknowledge that such sentiments are baseless and false.
